Jason Pruett, Welcome!

Happy you have joined our group. This is a good site to compare family information, post comments and inquires, pictures, or just browse. Hope you will post something about your family. There could be someone in the group with whom you connect.

If you have results from a DNA test previously done, posting them here will identify the group with which you connect. We have six different Pruett/Pruitt/Prewitt DNA lines. You may have looked at the DNA comparison screen already. If you have not had the test,, and would like to, that would be great.

I know what you mean about being the last in the line. My two son's will be the last of our specific Pruett line, since each of them have only daughters. Being grandma, I shoud say "adorable daughters." It seems girls rule in our Pruett line. My father-in-law was one of two males out of 10 children; his father one of two males out of 7 children. I'm trying hard to find where we fit in with Solomon's line, which is group B, and our DNA connection.

Welcome Jason and I hope you will have the DNA test done to see if you are related to Michael who is in our large Group Family Group B.

I too am the last of my line because my family usually had a lot of girls. My gg grandfather had 15 children, but only three boys. Two of these three boys died in an diphtheria outbreak in October 1861 that killed six of his children. The remaining son, John Norman Pruett, made it through four years of the war and the infamous Point Lookout Federal prison camp in MD to have a family, but he had only three surviving sons out of nine children. Only one of these three sons had any male children.
